The setting was both unique and picturesque. Those in the audience, composed entirely of the artists, poets, playwrights and literary folk from Cornish and the surrounding hills, were costumed in various colored gowns and coats and sat on rough wooden benches fixed on the slope of a hill, at the foot of which was the stage. There is no animal fat in Grape-Nuts.

The crisp granules of Grape-Nuts come to your table ready-to-eat direct from package, invite thorough mastication and have a peculiarly sweet, nut-like flavor.

Grape-Nuts, containing all the rich elements of wheat and barley, including the vital mineral salts, is a perfectly balanced food for building muscle, bone, brain and nerve.

> Grape-Nuts is probably the longest baked, the best balanced, and the most easily digested of all cereal foods. Wonderfully appetizing with cream and sugar.

City Councilmen Henry Lauer, Bowie Johnson and Albert Ashby went to Baltimore Tuesday night to consult with the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad officials concerning the erection of the Third street bridge, which was carried down when a train wrecked beneath it several weeks ago, since which time the street leading to it has been closed and has entailed loss upon merchants and others whose trade comes from Eglon and other points south of town. The B. & O. people have assured the Council that measurements have been made for the bridge and that it will be erected as soon as possible, but no considerable headway has yet been made, hence the visit to Baltimore of the committee representing the Mayor and Council.

SYNOPSIS.

Fran arrives at Hamilton Gregory's home in Littleburg, but finds him absent conducting the choir at a camp meeting. She repairs thither in search of him, laughs during the service and is asked to leave. Abbott Ashton, superintendent of schools, escorts Fran from the tent. He tells her Gregory is a wealthy man, deeply interested in charity wors, and a pillar of the church. Ashton becomes greatly interested in Fran and while taking leave of her, holds her hand and is seen by Sapphira Clinton, sister of Robert Clinton, chairman of the school board. Fran tells Gregory she wants a home with him. Grace Noir, Gregory's private secretary, takes a violent dislike to Fran and advises her to go away at once. Fran hints at a twenty-year-old secret, and Gregory in agitation asks Grace to leave the room. Fran relates the story of how Gregory married a young siri at Springfield while attending college and then deserted her. Fran is the child of that marriage. Gregory had married his present wife three years before the death of Fran's mother. Fran takes a liking to Mrs. Gregory insists on her making her home with them and takes her to her arms. Fran declares the secretary must go. Grace begins nagging tactics in an effort to drive Fran from the Gregory home. Abbott, while taking a walk alone at midnight, finds Fran on a bridge telling her fortune by cards. She tells Abbott that she is the famous lion tamer. Fran Nonparell. She tired of circus life and sought a home. Grace tells of seeing Fran come home after midnight with

Pastor Russell Addresses Record Growd at Memphis.

The Wonders of the Past Century Rehearsed-They Are Foregleams of Messiah's Kingdom-The Blessings Promised For Thousands of Years Are Upon Us-Already In Them, Greater Wonders Are Coming-Scripture Prophecy Fulfilling-Evolution Theory Incompetent and Unwise. Lift Up Your Heads and Rejoice.

September 21 .-Pastor Russell addressed two inrge and deeply interested audiences here today, me in the Memphis Auditorium, seating capacity lve thousand. We eport one of his discourses from the topic, "The Golden Age Prophet and Poet." His text was, "He hold, I make all things new."-Revelation 21:5.

The promise of a New Day has long been before God's people-in the Bible, said the Pastor. It was hinted to our that eventually the Scod of the woman should bruise the serpent's head. This is understood to mean that Satan's power will be crushed, and mankind delivered from sin and death.

A still more explicit promise made to Abraham-"In thy Seed shall all the families of the earth be blessed." For centuries Abraham's posterity waited for Messiah. The Prophets of Israel foretold the coming King of David's line, who would be a Priest. after the order of Melchizedec.

Even Jesus' disciples, who recognize ed Him as the "Sent of God," were disappointed that His Kingdom was Still the prophecies respecting Messigh's King dom were repeated and amplified in Jesus' parables, and finally in the Revelation which He gave His Church.

"Arise, Look Around Thee." The Pastor then declared that after all these centuries of waiting, God's people are awakening to a realization of the fact that we are living in the very dawn of the glorious epoch. Blessings have come down like a gentle shower, so quietly that we scarcely realized that earth has entered the Times of Restitution, for told by St. Peter.-Acts 3:19-21.

Many are still asleep. Some are confused. Others, having lost faith in the Bible, seek a solution along the line of evolution, claiming that a Nature God Registration operates by blind force, under a law of the survival of the fittest. Surely they overlook the fact that there were great characters in the past with whom few today may be compared-Shakespeare, Socrates, St. Paul, Moses THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF ELEC-TION FOR GARRETT COUNTY.

Knowledge of God's Glory. A prominent feature connected with the New Age will be the binding of Satan, who has deceived poor humanity for six thousand years. Continually has he misrepresented God's character and Plan, so as to turn mankind away from God in fear and dread, said the Paster. Thus he has blinded their minds to God's glorious goodness, now shining in our Redeemer's character and in the promises of the Bible.

bedrooms on the second floor. The "Well, she was dressed queerly," A commodious and at the same time conveniently arranged house of moderate cost, is illustrated in the accompanying perspective drawing and floor plan. By fitting up three rooms upstairs—for which there is space available—this plan gives us a house of nine rooms, besides bathroom, front and back entries or vestibules, and a pantry.

House is complete downstairs. I have known men with families of five or six children to build a house like this, occupy it for a year or two, then add a cellar, sleeping rooms in the attic, a porch at the back or side, and many other attractive features as they felt they could afford the expense. And very often the money saved in rent has paid for these improvements.

Number of Americans Taxable Estimated at 425.000.

WILL PRODUCE $82.298,000.

Those Persons Coming Within the Law Must Keep a Close Account Of Their Incomes From March 1 Last.

Washington.-According to esti mates just completed by treasury experts, 435,000 American citizens must keep such accurate account of their incomes this year that they will be able to report to the income tax collector next spring exactly how much they owe the government under the new Income Tax Law.

So far as the taxable American concerned, the Income Tax Law is now practically in force against him While the tariff bill, in which the law is embodied, will be signed this week, the first returns do not have to be made to the internal revenue collectors before March 1, 1914. But when the returns are made they will cover the income of citizens from March 1, 1913, of tax will be for money received dur ing this period. Every single person (citizen or for eign resident) whose annual income exceeds $3,000, and every married person with an income above $4,000 is expected to report his or her receipts in detail to the government agents March 1 of each year. The estimate completed indicates that the income tax duced by the present corporation tax, Estimates Of Tax.

The income tax estimates follow:

those happenings in the soul, which, however momentous, passes unobserved in charity work, and a great interested in francisc interes and Gregory in agitation asks Grace to leave the room. Fran relates the story of how Gregory married a young girl at Springfield while attending college and then deserted her. Fran is the child of that marriage. Gregory had married his oresent wife three years before the death of Fran's mother. Fran takes a liking to Mrs. Gregory, Gregory explains that Fran is the daughter of a very dear friend who is dead. Fran agrees to the story. Mrs. Gregory insists on her making her home with them and takes her to her arms. Fran declares the secretary must go. Grace begins nagging tactics in an effort to drive Fran from the Gregory home. Abbott, while taking a walk alone at midnight finds Fran on a bridge telling her focuse by cards. She tells Abbott that she is the famous lion tamer, Fran Nonparell. She tired of circus life and sought a home. Grace decides to ask Bob Clinton to go to Springfield to investigate Fran's story. Fran offers her services to Gregory as secretary during the temporary absence of Grace. The latter, hearing of Fran's purpose, returns and interrupts a touching scene between father and daughter. Grace tells Gregory she intends to marry Clinton and quit his service. He declares that he cannot continue his work without h. Carried away by passion, he takes her in his arms. Fran walks in on them, and declares that be laces her in the arms and declares that race must leave the house at once. To regory's consternation he learns of litton's mission to Springfield. #### SHIPWRECKED!

What is said to be the most vivid portrayal of the perils of the sea ever presented in motion pictures is found in the Kalem two-part photoplay, "SHIP-WRECKED," which will be presented at the Maryland on Thursday Oct. 2, at 8 p. m. The producers sent a large organization into the southern seas to organization into the southern seas to secure the proper locations for this drama and many sensational scenes were made on a desert tropical island. The capturing of a large sea tortoise, an attack by scores of cannibals, the sinking vessel and the heroic struggle which saves the lives of the derelicts are among the unusual features in this remarkable motion picture. The story deals with a millionaire, who takes a party on a cruise through the southern waters. A storm at sea wrecks the vessel and the test of manhood comes when the men make way for the women and children in the lifeboats. Exhausted and unable to row, the wealthy man's little party drifts to a desert island with little party drifts to a desert island with the tide. His riches avail him nothing and the most primitive manner of living results. A powerful sociological situation develops in the government of the little community and when a vessal is sighted and the modern Robinson Crusoes are brought back to civilization many lessons have been gained from the privations suffered. Another real The Essanay Photo Play "Home Spun," will also be shown. Advertisement.

Count Rural Mail.

The rural mail carriers throughout Garrett county have received orders from the post office department to keep a record of every piece of mail carried or handled by them for a period of two months, beginning vesterday and continuing until November 30th. This counting will be carried out all over the country and doubtless will reveal a tremendous increase in the postoffice business of the United States.

HYMNS ARE POORLY WRITTEN

Good Poets Have Not Composed Religious Songs We Sing, Says Englishman.

It is a melancholy thing to read an English hymn book. Doubtless for most of us sacred associations gather around the hymns we sing, so that we abandon ourselves to the feelings called up by these associations, and do not notice what we are singing, writes Prof. W. H. D. Rouse in the English Review. Yet if in a critical mood we examine them we cannot but be overcome with melancholy.

They are so well meant and so badly expressed, so pious and so ridiculous. They are sentimental when they should be impassioned, groveling instead of penitent, incoherent when they ought to be simple.

It is not true that great poets are glory it is to see a soul of goodness structed. The work that remains to canal, and will not interfere with navin things evil, and this is the essence be done is largely detail, and is but igation of the waterway by such boats the construction of an isthmian canal ously not written by poets. Home.

Centralia, Pa.-Thomas Toshesky, prisoner for eight days in an abandoned chamber of the Continental Mine of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company, walked into the open air a free and comparatively well man Saturday morning. He was taken to his home in Centralia, three miles away from his underground prison, and at once put to bed, apparently no worse for his remarkable experience. It was 7.15 o'clock when the last barrier of coal was driven away and Toshesky crawled through the opening from his prison chamber into the tunnel which had been steadily driven toward him by eager, willing rescuers. Seven minutes later the first intimation was given to the outside world that the big task was completed and the prisoner was free. May Change Election Law.

The nomination of the bulk of the progressive ticket in Maryland to conventions instead of by open primaries will probably result in a change in the Primary Election Law by the next General Assembly. Many local law yers are agreed that technically the Progressives had the right to make the nominations by committees under the present law, but it is generally agreed that the framers of the primary statuth and no such idea in view when the act was proposed and passed. The Progressives took advantage of the clause which gave the right to the various parties to fill vacancies. The spirit of the section, according to many nonpartissal knayers, was to permit a fall ticket to be placed in the field in the event of any deaths or resignations of candidates after the primaries.

Garrett County's First Annual Fair was a success. More than this cannot be said-it was a grand success, and the few men and women who worked so hard to make it so deserve and no doubt will receive the plaudits of the citizens of the westernmost and most progressive patch of land in the old state of Maryland.

Allegany county may feel proud of her forty-year old child, but if she does that feeling has not been reflected through the columns of her Cumberland papers, no reference whatever having been made to the fair in any of the dailies published in that city, yet the Garrett County Fair survives and we feel that Garrett County's Fair of 1913 sorpassed the widely advertised

Cumberland fair in more respects tnan one. The success which crowned the work of the officers and board of directors, composed of Mr. R. E. Sliger, president, and Mr. James D. Hamill, secretary and treasurer, with Messrs. A. D. Naylor, Wade H. Hinebaugh, Stephen Casteel and Mrs. E. Z. Tower as directors, will remain in the minds of every one who visited the fair grounds the three days of last week. The inauguration of a county fair for Garrett county means a larger, greater and grander fair next year and with each succeeding year the Garrett County Agricultural Association will be called upon and expected to maintain the operations of the same. Begin now, you agriculturalists and stockmen, to lay the foundation for your exhibits next year. Keep in mind that you intend to get first premium and then Garrett county's fair will be greater and attract the attention of the country to this section which is just now throwing off its swaddling clothes.

PISO'S REMEDY FOR COUCHS AND COLDS

From 40 to 50 Woman's Critical Period.

Such warning symptoms as sense of suffocation, hot flashes, severe headaches, melancholia, dread of impending evil, palpitation of the heart, irregularity, constipation and dizziness are promptly treated by intelligent women who are approaching the period of life.

This is the most critical period of woman's life and she who neglects the care of her health at this time invites incurable disease and pain. Why not be guided by the experience of others and take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? It is an indisputable fact that this grand old remedy has helped thousands of women to pass through this trying period with comfort and safety. Thousands of genuine and honest testimonials support this fact.

From Mrs. HENRY HEAVILIN, Cadiz, Ohio. Fort Worth, Texas.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and derived great benefit from its use. It carried me safely through the Change of Life when I was in bad health. I had that all gone feeling most of the time, and headache constantly, I was very nervous and the hot flashes were very bad. I had tried other remedies and doctors, but did not improve until I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It has now been sometime since I took the Compound and I have had no return of my old complaints. I always praise your remedies to weak women."—Mrs. Henry Heavilin, R. F. D. No. 5, Cadiz, Ohio.

From Mrs. EDWARD B. HILBERT, Fleetwood. Pa. Fleetwood, Pa.—"During the Change of Life I was hardly able to be around at all. I always had a headache and I was so dizzy and nervous that I had no rest at night. The flashes of heat were so bad sometimes that I did not know what to do.

"One day a friend advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it made me a strong, well woman. I am very thankful that I followed my friend's advice, and I shall recommend it as long as I live. Before I took the Compound I was always sickly and now I have not had medicine from a doctor for years. publish my letter."-Mrs. EDWARD B. HILBERT, Fleetwood, Pa.

From Mrs. F. P. MULLENDORE, Munford, Ala. Munford, Ala.—"I was so weak and nervous while passing through the Change of Life that I could hardly live. My husband had to nail rubber on all the gates for I could not stand to have a gate slam. "I also had backache and a fullness in my stomach. I noticed that

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was advertised for such cases and I sent and got a bottle It did me so much good that I kept on taking it and found it to be all you claim. It felt the magic touch of a protective tariff. When the new tariff law, which removes the tariff from timber and coal, shall have full sway, when its operation shall have made themselves felt, then will its blight fall upon Garrett county and on the Republican party will again fall the duty of restoring prosperity. Indeed, there are Democrats in the county who having seen how higher tariff duties have made prosperity possible, are viewing with misgivings the effects of the lower schedules on coal and timber. The Republicans are already finding it advantageous to their cause to discuss the tariff issue. Democrats find but little argument in the new law on which they can make winning appeals even to farmers, who have transformed the county into one of the richest and most productive agricultural sections in the

The Republican leaders and campaign managers are taking nothing for granted. They are not waiting for victory to come to them. They are going after it. They are not permitting grass to grow under their feet.

Senator Harvey J. Speicher is again the standard-bearer of his party in the campaign. He was renominated for the Senate in the direct primaries. He carried 12 of the 13 districts of the county. So large and convincing was his majority that his nomination has been accepted without question by almost every Republican in the county. It would be exacting too much of human nature to expect every Republican in the county to vote for him, but for every Republican vote he loses he will receive one and, perhaps more Democratic votes.

Mr. Speicher is making an active and energetic campaign. He smoothed over rough places and has his fight well in

The large vote cast for Mr. Speicher in the primary is conclusive proof of his popularity in the county. Recognizing that the majority sentiment of the county is favorable to the local option proposition, he has reiterated his position of four years ago with added emphasis. It is not surprising that Mr. Speicher should have swept the county at the primary. His victory was a recognition of his services to the county: services which will be more valuable in the future because of his broader knowledge and wider experience in legislative methods gained during the two sessions he has spent at Annapolis: He has been instrumental in connecting Oakland with the old National turnpike with one of the best roads in the state. Fifteen miles of this road has been completed. Seven miles is under contract and, with the appropriation which Senator Speicher will urge the next legislatem of the state, the entire road from Oakland to the pike will be completed.

Maryland's Best Potatoes.

Prof. Thomas B. Symons, secretary of the Maryland Horticultural Society, has returned from the Lonaconing fair, where he saw an exhibit of Irish potatoes said to be the finest ever shown in Maryland. He has arranged to have them exhibited at the Fifth Regiment Armory, Baltimore, during Maryland week, which begins November 17. These potatoes, declared Dr. H. J. Patterson, president of the Maryland Agricultural college, are the best the State has ever produced, and he congratulated the farmers of Garrett and Allegany counties upon their product. Dr. Patterson said that with the raising of such potatoes it was no longer necessary for the Maryland farmer to look to Maine and filed his nomination papers with the confidence of the public and will poll a New York for seed.

Our knowledge of the geographical distribution of the worm has within the last 25 years increased amazingly, and it has at the present time been found in so many countries that one may almost state that ancylostoma or an allied genus is genentity and mic (if one may apply this word to a worm) all over the globe between the parallels 51 degrees 31 minutes north and 30 degrees south. wherever the character and the moist condition of the soil favors its presence. In Egypt it is found in rearly all the natives. In parts of India 75 per cent, are infected, and it seems to be equally common in Ceylon, the Straits Settlements, Java, China, Japan, the Philippines, the farmer parts of South America and the West Indies, and in the warmer parts of Europe and North America. In 1902 ancylostoma was discover il in the tin mines of Cornwall. England, probably introduced by the refurn of miners from the Trans aal or other subtropical districts, and it has caused infinite harm in the coal mines of central Europe, especially in Westphalia. Once established in its larval state in the heat and the moisture of a mine it is very difficult to eradicate.

the disease attracted general attention among the medical men of Europe. The Italian excavators suffered so much from this parasite that increasing interest was taken in it, and now, for the first time in modern medical history, it was recognized as causing a dangerous and not infrequently a fa-

As is usual with parasitic worms, the male is comparatively insignificant in number and size empared with the female. There seem to be shout three times as many of the latter as of the former, and whereas the male measures from six o cleven millimeters in length, the female measres from seven to fifteen millimeters. Like all an mais that live in the dark, these little creatures are without pigment and are grayish white, but sometimes they are stained red with the blood they absorb from their host. Ancylostoma cannot shut its mouth; it is perpetually open. Inside it Is provided with certain strongly recurved hooks. Into this mouth and, indeed, quite a long way into the guilet is dragged a portion of the soft mucous membrane lining of the alimentary canal of the host, and it is on the cells covering this that the worm lives. Occasionally a blood-vessel is ruptured, and then a pinkish tinge is given to the parasitic worm; but according to Loose, the blood corpuscles are not digested. It is believed that from time to time the worm shifts its position. and that the abandoned bite continues to bleed. and certainly there are some large glands opening into the mouth of the worm like those that exist in the pharynx of the leech which may very well recrete some anti-coagulating secretion.

A female ancylostoma produces a never-ending stream of eggs, oval, transparent, delicate-looking structures which do not develop very far until they have passed away from the body of their host. Should, however, they reach a warm, moist scot in a mine or tunnel or on the ground, the deispment is so rapid that in one or two das orous devouring whatever organic matter vigorous, devouring whatever organic mate can find so that within a week it trobles it but even then it is very minute. By the end first seven days of free existence the embry twice cast its skin, and after its second mo oes a "rest-cure," passing a stage of able with the chrysalis in insects. In this. tion it will live for weeks and mouths, me at al, but languidly in mud or damp earts. The question now arises: How do these revae find their way into the alimentary canal & man; Till a few years ago it was always thought that the transference was direct, either by means of drinking infected water or by means of the perverted instincts which the worm induces for their

DUODENALE presence stimulates human beings to eat clay and earth. But there is another route, and one of the romances of science must now be explained. Towards the end of the last century, when cholera was prevalent in Alexandria, Doctor Looss, the distinguished parasitologist, was working in the local laboratory at the larva of ancylostema. In transferring some of the water containing larvae from one watch-glass to another by means of a pipette he accidentally spilt a drop on to the back of his hand. He did not wait to wipe it off, but after a time he noticed that the place where the drop had fallen was intensely irritable and had become reddened and inflamed. He then made a further experiment; placing a drop of the fluid swarming with larvae on the back of his hand he allowed it partially to dry up. The burning and the reddening of the skin began over again, and a little later when he removed what was left of the fluid very few of the larvae were to be found. The great majority of them had disappeared. These little trifles gave Doctor Looss "furlously to think," as the French say, and he then repaired to the hospital, where he found a boy whose leg was about to be removed. He dropped a little of the fluid full of ancylostoma larvae on the leg, and after the leg was cut off the area in question was removed and cut into sections. When these sections were examined through the microscope the little ancylostoma larvae were seen forcing their way down into the body through the skin, especially traveling by the hair follicles, and, to a lesser extent, through the sweat glands into the deeper layers of the skin. It was, of course, im possible to pursue this work with the human ancylostoma, and Doctor Looss had to carry on his work with another species. The larvae of A caninum were traced into the blood vessels and lymphatics of the dog. Swept along in the blood stream, they easily reach the lungs. Once arrived in the lungs the larvae have no difficulty in traversing the soft pulmonary tissue and making their way in the cavity of the respiratory organs. Thence they travel along the bronchial tubes, and so to the windpipe and into the larynx and up almost into the mouth, and here they turn back into the oesophagus and so down into the stomach and intestine. The whole of this remarkable journey takes from seven to ten day. They then shed the skin of their second moult, and later, when they reach the alimentary canal, they undergo a third and fourth ecdysis or moult. In eight days they become capable of reproduction, and in a very few more days the eggs are then passing away from the body of the host. The whole cycle of their life history has taken, under favorable circumstances, from a month to six weeks; under unfavorable circumstances it can be almost indefinite ly prolonged. The truth of this very remarkable and until Doctor Looss' investigations, quite unheard of life-history is now accepted, Doctor Sambon, however, thinks that in many cases the ancylostoma larvae reach the alimentary canal with the blood stream, and directly penetrate its walls

EGG OF NECATOR

Since the middle of the seventeenth century a fatal disease has been known to exist in the warmer parts of America. In 1648 Piso, in his "Historia Medico Braziliae," gives an account of a disease which he calls "Oppilacao," and ithout passing through the lungs.

from that time forward numerous writers have described the symptoms of this disease without appreciating or understanding its cause. As we have mentioned. Dubini undoubtedly deserves the credit of first associating Miners' Anaemia or Tunnel disease with the presence of a parasitic worm. One of the many troubles which has, for more years than one cares to recall. vexed the economist of the southern part of the United States is the existence of a large population of degraded white people, sometimes referred to by the black citizens as "Poor mean whites" or "Poor white trash." About the beginning of the present century Professor Stiles of Washington was able to show that the deplorable condition of this degenerate people was due not so much to original sin as to the fact that they were infested by a worm which was thought to be identical with the Ancylostoma doudenale we have described above. But ten years ago Stiles found out that the worm. although its effects were identical with the Ancylostoma, was of a different species and even genus, and this he named Necator americanus. It was for some years thought that this N. americanus was peculiar to America, and the uninformed labeled it the "Germ-of-idleness." Schoolmasters and college presidents looked forward to a virus weakened under cultivation until inoculation would confer immunity to laziness on schoolboys and college students. A little later some pigmies from the Semliki Forest, who were brought by some enterprising impresario for exhibition in music-halls, passed down the Nile, and, on reaching Cairo, were inspected by Looss, who discovered in them Necator americanus. Probably this was introduced some centuries ago into America from Africa with the slaves, and is part of the debt the New World has had to pay for the institution of slavery. Since then Leiper has shown that Necator americanus is almost as widely distributed in the Old World as in the New. There are many details about the tunnel worm which are fil adapted for newspaper discussion: but one may at least point out that, with proper provision, it may be controlled. To a great extent it is controlled in the Panama canal region and other districts by the American sanitary officials. To take but one example. In Porto Rico the deaths caused by Ancylostomiasis were placed at 30 per cent. of the local death rate; but by assiduous and most careful treatment the authorities in that island managed to cure 26 per cent, of the inhabitants and practically cured another 17.5 per cent., while 40 per cent. of their patients were still under treatment at the time of writing. The remaining 161/2 per cent. ceased to return, and only 0.2 per cent. died. This admirable work was effected without any great cost. The triumph of the Americans in making the 'Canal zone" a health resort is summed up by Mr. James Bryce, late British ambassador at Washington, in these words: "Its success in escaping all charges of partiality or corruption, as well as in producing efficiency in the work and contentment among the workers, has indeed been such as to make some persons draw from it an argument in favor of state control of all great | remale fox terrier which was deprived | popular dances, including glides and enterprises. To the unbiased observer it is rather an instance of the efficiency obtainable by weeks old. Two vesting full administrative control in men whose uprightness and capacity have already been proved beyond question, who have not risen by political methods, and who have nothing to gain by any misuse of their powers. Spread of "Twin Disposition" Surely Would Do Little Harm if It Was More Prevalent.

There are twin girls and they live at New Rochelle. They are several years old apiece. It is popularly supposed that their mother can tell them apart, but nobody else can. If she cannot she does make that fact public. It is enough that each probably can tell herself apart, but even this is not necessary, for they are so devoted to each other that they are as one, and it makes no difference which one. They are inseparable, loving and con-

These heavenly twins live next door to a lady who loves them as they deserve and between their home lawn and hers there is no dividing fence. A few days ago one of the twins, by planks, clenching her hands and whisrated a moment from her other self, went to visit their older friend. An orange was lying on the table and after the exchange of the usual courtesies the hostess gave it to her guest. It was received with thanks and at once 'he hostess realized that a duplicate must be sent to sister. She went to her larder to get it and when she returned to the front room her visitor

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 1st, AT 10:30 A. M.

ON EASY TERMS.

Our prophecy concerning profits has been more than fulfilled. When we sold the Bradley Farm adjoining Oakland in May 1912 we were sure that purchasers would make money. Some of those lots changed hands at handsome profits in less than 30 days and > Seventy-Five Per Cent. Profit has been Offered for Some of Those Lots. One Hundred Per Cent. Profit has been Refused for others, and this in Less than Two Years. Can You Beat It? Yes, we Believe You Can.

The property we sell November 1st, at 10:30 a. m., is nearest to the finest home neighborhood ever offered for sale and presents the Greatest Investment Opportunity ever offered in Oakland. 🛩 The farsighted investor reaped the harvest of the last sale, and the fellow who lost his nerve when it came to putting on the last bid gets another show at this great sale. We Cordially Invite You.

HAS FARM LABOR PLAN. Secretary of State Immigration Bureau

Urges On Farmers. Concerted action by the farmers of ne State to obtain labor has been suggested by officials of the State Bureau of Immigration. Lately, it is said, the bureau has been in receipt of letters from farmers asking if some thing could not be done to assist them in getting labor, and the inability of the bureau to respond has caused the suggestion that the farmers them-

> Mr. S. M. Whiteley, Longwoods, Md.: My Dear Sir-Acknowledging your favor of October 27, I wish to state we are unable to assist you in securing the desired help. I have studied the labor question somewhat and realize its seriousness. I have come to the conclusion something must be done soon to solve it. In my opinion the simplest way to solve it is: Either the next Legislature create a labor bureau or the farmers organize themselves to this end. The best source from which to draw farm labor is the agricultural element of the Old World; you are aware of this fact as well as I. If our farmers should organize they must appoint a man of integrity, who will face the obstacles of our contract labor law and the laws of the states in the old world intended to prevent solicitation of emigration, and induce industrious farm laborers to come to Maryland. This is done by railroads here and I cannot see why farmers' organizations should not be able to accomplish the same thing. Farm labor in most of the sec tions of Europe is very cheap and the only reason that it does not appear on our labor market is the lack of traveling expenses. The members of such a farmers' organization must be willing, therefore, to advance these expenses.

The farm laborers across the "big pond" is accustomed to hire his services for an entire year. The average wage paid him is $75 a year. There would be no difficulty to induce him to come here by offering him $180 a year with the stipulation that he return to his employer $50 paid for his traveling expenses. As I said, the agent who does this work must be an honest man. He must investigate the record of every la-

Wall Street and Great Lawyers Unable to Solve It.

THEY ARE SWIMMING IN MUD

Ruling From Washington Creates Confusion-Many Suits To Test Law Expected.

New York.-That part of New York which is referred to vaguely as "Wall Street," was in a state of confusion Friday. For once in its career Wall Street did not know which way to turn. The new income tax law which became effective Saturday and some of the highest priced lawyers, bankers and corporation officials in the world confessed that they were completely at sea as to its meaning.

A group of men emerged from the darkened, cavernous interior of one of the largest banks in the downtown district. In the growth of the largest banks in the downtown district. trict. as to dispense with a coll. In cutting a gown of this character wide goods are more easily managed than narrow. Skirts, overlapping at the front, while narrow, give room for easy walking because the front seam is not joined down to the bottom. The under petticoat must be soft; the most clinging of fabrics, as chiffon or crepe de chine, or lace. An inserted flounce will take the place of a petticoat. Anything heavy enough to interfere with the falling of the skirt in close and clinging lines would destroy an important item in the beauty of the design. It is the hang and not fit of garments which is of paramount importance now. The figure, without distortion of any sort, without restraint, but in the lovely, natural silhouette, is glorified in present day styles. which really amount to cleverly arranged drapery. Garments must not shape the figure today; they must be shaped by it, or appear to be, anyway. Hence so many gowns seem to be designed for the corsetless figure, JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

To Freshen Velvet Hats. During the velvet hat season, which is now with us, those having stained, spotted and shabby looking velves hats can freshen them up nicely by heating an iron, then placing a wet cloth over it, and holding the iron upside down in the inside of the hat. When the entire surface is moist, hang the hat without touching it. When dry brush well, and it will look bright and new.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR SECOND CORN EXHIBIT

PRIZES OF MORE THAN ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS TO BE GIVEN TO MARYLAND, WEST VIRGINIA AND PENNSYLVANIA FARMERS

In hearty sympathy and friendly co-operation with the generally accepted view that accords supremacy to agriculture as the bulwark of American prosperity and commercial expansion, and in furtherance of the wide spread movement of agricultural fairs and cereal exhibits which invite greater achievement and more more material results from the husbandman's toil by encouraging intensive cultivation, better methods of distribution for his products, and the advantage which accrues from an observation of his neighbors efforts along lines more scientific and fruitful than his own, Mr. Daniel Annan, president of the Second National Bank of Cumberland has announced his second corn exposition, open to the farmers of Allegany and Garrett counties, Md.; Mineral and Hampshire counties, West Virginia; and Bedford county, Pennsylvania.

The success which attended the first exhibit of corn at the Second National Bank one year ago, and the marked interest manifested by farmers who were exhibitors as well as the many who attended the cereal show for comparison and study, promptly induced Mr. Annan to repeat his venture upon a larger scale-in fact that promise was exacted of him by the many observers who recognized in the exposition an enterprise of value to the community in its incentive for agricultural expansion and emphasized invitation to make two ears of corn grow where one grew before.

The conditions governing the previous exhibit are identical with those to prevail at the forthcoming event, but the prizes are double in amount and more territory is included than before.

Twelve ears of corn, grown in the counties of Allegany, Garrett, Mineral. Hampshire or Bedford shall constitute an entry and in the event of a controversy or question as to the corn having been grown in the locality open to the exposition an affidavit of the grower to that effect may be

Entries will be received at the Second National Bank of Cumberland during business hours from Tuesday, December 2nd to Friday, December 5th. Judging of exhibits will be conducted by a recognized corn expert, probably from one of the agricultural colleges, whose verdict will be impartial, and in accordance with the actual merits of the entry. All exhibits shall remain the property of Mr. Annan to be disposed of in the interest of a public charity or beneficence. The prizes shall be as follows: Fifty dollars in gold for the best exhibit of 12 ears of corn grown in the counties previously designated. Twentyfive dollars in gold for the second best entry; #fteen dollars in gold for the third prize; ten dollars in gold for the fourth prize and five dollars in

Farmers in this and adjacent counties are in full realization of the actual profit which scientific crop culture implies, and they therefore appreciate a movement or object designed to promote their interests. Hence the prediction that the corn exposition at the Second National Bank will not not only receive a large number of exhibits but will arouse such a degree of concern among the farming element and others interested in agriculture as to insure the annual repetition of this event with increasing importance, influence and success.

PARCELS POST BEING SWAMPED. Business Increasing Away Beyond Original Predictions.

Congressman David J. Lewis, the father of the parcel post, has estimated that 200,000,000 packages will be carried the 20th Day of November, 1913, man of the parcel post commission, said he has told Mr. Lewis that he will have to revamp his guess, for the amount of business, according to present indications, will exceed that figure. It is estimated by some of the postal experts that the total revenue from parcel post for its first year will reach $10,000,000. None of the experts at the present time, in view of the big increase in the traffic, care to hazard just what amount of business will be done.

Here is an illustration of the growth to the limber on said land, and on which is a small orchard; said property will be so subject to an agreement between Josep Warnick and Samuel Warnick in reference to the timber on said land. man of the parcel post commission.

BIG CLOCK WITHOUT HANDS

Hours, Minutes and Seconds Are indicated by Arrangement of Multicolored Electric Bulbs.

One of the largest electric clocks in existence has just been exhibited. It is a marvel of beauty and workmanship. The pendulum weighs over 3,000 pounds. The clock contains 5,485 multicolored electric bulbs, for which 11,000 connections were necessary and over a mile of wire. In making the connections 140 pounds of special screws were required. The dial, although it indicates hours, minutes, and seconds, has no hands.

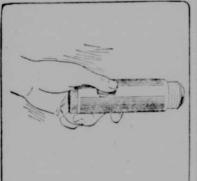

The time in minutes is indicated by 60 series of lights, each series containing 32 globe-covered bulbs, radiating from an ornamental centerpiece to the outer edge of the dial. Poison ivy has long been a mystery both to scientists and laymen; why and with what manner it causes the peculiar rash and irritating inflammation have puzzled both botanists and physicians. At last the reason has en discovered. Dr. Mirande of Paris read to the Academy of Sciences in that city recently the results of his study of the poisonous weed. Poison lvy contains prussic acid. This is found principally in the young leaves and buds; in the older leaves there is very little of it. In three and onehalf ounces of young leaves there is about a quarter of a grain of the acid. As with other plants in which prussic acid is found, the poisonous substance does not exist in its perfect form, but develops as soon as the leaves are bruised, a chemical action being set up through the union of an enzyme with a glucosid.

There are all kinds of houses and all wards; but until the chimney gets fortable look about the little cottage reason some builders refuse to put a here illustrated that I like. It has a roomy, comfortable, cool appearance for summer; and it looks as though a good furnace in the cellar would make it warm and cozy in the winter, too. It is 30x45 feet long on the ground, with the addition of two comfortable porches.

This house should face the north. Not every house plan is suitable for a lot with a northern exposure. Generally speaking, a southern frontage is preferred; but sometimes a northern outlook is desirable. It is not possible to face every house to the south, because there are not sites enough of this kind to go around. There are advantages in a northern exposure, with a house built like this, which offset some of the disadvantages. The parlor, library and downstairs bedroom could get the east sun in the morning. The kitchen would be bright and cheerful while the work is going on in the forenoon, and the dining room would be pleasant in winter time

MANTLES THAT WON'T BREAK English Article That Can Be Tossed About Like Ordinary Rubber Ball-Big Gas Saver.

As astonished gathering at the Hotel Cecil saw incandescent gas mantles thrown about the room, caught by the skillful and afterward thrown back again to the platform, writes the Lonion correspondent of the Manchester Guardian. Then the ill-used mantles were put on gas burners and gave a brilliant light, as if nothing had happened to them. Then the demonstrator, while the gas was still burning. pushed the mantle up with a rod until it bulged and let it fall back again. And still it continued to give a brilliant light. An ordinary gas mantle burning alongside it collapsed at a touch, as, of course, any ordinary gas mantle would. The reason why the ordinary gas mantle gets crippled so

Order of Publication.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree to vacate, annul, recind and set aside a certain lease executed by the plaintiffs to one H. M. Datesman, his heirs and assigns, and now held by the defendants. This bill states that on June 24, 1996, the plaintiffs leased to H. M. Datesman, his leirs and assigns, all the coal underlying Military Lot No. 28, and all that part of Miltary Lot No. 199 not covered or held by the heirs of Israel Thompson, situate in Garrett county, Maryland, and by certain mesone and sundry conveyances and caulty proceedings.

said lessee was to mine and take out the first year after beginning operations on said land the minimum of 5,000 tons, and 5,000 tons the second year and 5,000 tons each succeeding year thereafter during the existence of said lease, and whether said number of tons be taken out or not, said lessee was to pay for said number of tons each year, and that said minimum royalty, amounting to the sum of $25,00 per annum, has not been paid since January 1, 1911, and is now more than two and one half years in arrears, and that said Branard Coal Company refuses to make such payment, and refuses to carry out and perform its covenants, as set forth in said lease, and that the plaintiffs are being deprived of their property and the revenue therefrom to which they are entitled under said lease, and that they are entitled to a decree declaring said lease null and void, and that the same be rescinded and set aside.

be said? Red fox skins have become ubiquitous in Paris. All through last summer, and autumn, the most exclusive Parisian beauties were making sensational successes in white linen and satin sea-side costumes, accompanied by a brilliant red fox skin, in the shape of a flat tie. Skins or the ordinary red fox looked all right when adopted as an eccentric "fad," by ultra smart women, and in conjunction with fragile summer dresses; they look hopelessly common when adopted as a regular winter fur and worn with handsome tailored suits of cloth and velvet. Nevertheless, the red-fox-rage is apparently in a healthy condition. It seems likely to last all through the winter. And the pity of it is that already the shop windows are filled with imitation redfox skins, worthless furs which have no meaning and which would make any costume look ordinary. This was, of course, inevitable, but it is nevertheless deplorable. The newest combs are large and flat, tand the correct thing is to wear them at the back of the head, low down, in Greek style. Some of these combs are of rare beauty. The artistic jewelers of Paris are past masters at work of this kind, and the most wonderful things are done with carved jade, inset with precious stones, and with transparent horn incrusted with diamonds and traced over with gold.

Sometimes these beautiful combs are accompanied by an elaborate clasp which is worn at the breast or is used to fasten the wide sash, at one side.

He joined the Methodist Episcopal church early in life, 'placing,' his membership with the Mt. Beulah church at New Germany. The church can boast of few more faithfull attendants upon divine services than he. His seat in Sunday school was rarely vacant.

No one but those who watched at his side can ever realize how intensely he suffered or how bravely and uncomplainingly he endured it all. Death came not as a conqueror but as a sweet release. The end came quietly and peacefully, a gentle ripple on the tranquil sea of time, a gentle receding wave returning to its source. We still linger on the shore, mutely looking out across the dark waters and wondering who next will take passage across the mystic sea. The silver chord is broken. Our home can never be complete except in a home beyond, in a home not made by hands. Written in loving tribute by ed as about the oldest national holiday of the land! As a matter of fact it is the youngest! Practically every yearly observance of a patriotic nature is more ancient than the celebrat ing of Thanksgiving day as a regular official

It is so customary in America for one person do the pioneering and another to get the credit that it is no surprise to learn that even the Mayflower band were really not entitled to all the praise as original thanksgivers, which they have been receiving ever since 1620. Not that there is anything disparaging to be uttered about those stern moralists-who seem to have been adepts in loading a cargo of furniture that would tax an ocean liner into a little sailing

They were brave and they deserve the nation's remembrance. But 12 years before they landed at Plymouth a group of future colonists had stood on American soil and given thanks at their deliverance from the perils of the sea. This was on Sunday, August 9, 1607, at the Island of Monkegan and an English minister and a priest jointly conducted a service of thanksgiving. The twin ships, Mary and John, and the ily boat, Gift of God, found their way to the island after a long, terrible voyage of storms and helplessness. They had neither turkey, nor cranberry sauce, but there was never a more genuine Thanksgiving day.

This was along the coast of Maine and yet Massachusetts has, through all the years, been honored among states as the home of the first Thanksgiving service.

Of course the Bay state may be said to have taken the idea and in the words of a capitalist, "developed it and put it on a paying basis." In Massachusetts such a day was set apart for especial services, continued fasting and rigorous giving of thanks almost from the time the Pilgrim Fathers first landed. But, without meaning to be facetious, it is obvious that these common sense folk never believed in giving thanks unless they had something to be thankful for

Thus, in 1633, 13 years after the landing at Plymouth, the governor of that state officially appointed a day of thanks and another in the year following. But then there was a jump of three years during which the celenists did not celebrate. Why? Certain historians insist it was because they were "lean" years. If so, they must have been followed by three "fat" ones. as the day was observed regularly until 1639. Again an interval of fateful 13 years and then, in 1651, the governor once more declared in favor of Thanksgiving. In 1680 the day was set apart as an annual state holiday and has been

But only New York adopted the practice of having such a day until well into the eighteenth As early as 1644 the Dutch governor of New York issued an official proclamation for P day of thanksgiving, but it was not followed each year-varying probably with the governor's ideas or the conditions of the crops. Like the famous pagan feast of autumn, it originally was meant chiefly as a public offering of prayer in gratitude for the bountiful output of grain and freits which would see the settlers through the

The other states were being more slowly settled and in Maryland and Virginia there was not so much of a strong religious atmosphere noticeable as a debonnaire enthusiasm for whatever of the good things of life could be had. The day was observed but not officially. And always, in the south, it was a day of feasting. From the time slavery entered the land the Maryland or Virginia colonist pictured Thanksgiving dinner as a scene of expectant waiting diners and a round grinning black face to the rear of the huge roast turkey on a platter.

About the time of the struggle of '76 ft came into its own as a regular holiday and in 1789 was, for the first time, declared a holiday by congress and so observed. So that, really, it is guite a youthful, immature holiday after all!

burning dogmas of the Pilgrims, the fasting of the day was tempered by moderate feasting. People ceased partaking in solemn silence of a meal just about the same as that served on Sunday-on which day of the week all early Thanksgiving used to be observed-and had a few friends or relations in to help give proper thanks. This necessitated more elaborate preparations and what the college-bred young man of the household today would term "a bigger feed." It would not be correct to dine in everyday clothes when guests were present, so elaborate costuming came into vogue for the occasion. Many guests came from a long distance-maidens sitting demurely behind men riders on horseback, or else in clumsy old road-coaches. It was not hospitable to suggest that these return the same day. So started the country house party which still flourishes wherever there is a hostess, a house in the country and a fireplace.

For weeks beforehand preparations for the great day went on. Especially at a place like Mount Vernon did Thanksgiving almost outweigh Christmas in culinary importance-which was as it should be since the host of Mount Vernon signed the first official proclamation making Thanksgiving a holiday. And always the turkey has been its emblem-just as the eagle is of freedom. Like the Indian it is typically Ameri-

Of course with such tempting menus as turkey. roast pig, home-cured hams and mince and pumpkin ples-to say nothing of imported plum pudding-feasting rapidly took the place of abstinence. And it is remarkable that amid all the changes of this vast country during the past 123 years that menu has remained practically unchanged. Everywhere in America on this Thanksgiving day-save in the homes of the poor and the multi-millionaire-turkey and cranberry sauce will have places of importance and be served from the table. The high cost of living debars the city poor from much turkey and the ultra-rich have long since determined that a few thin un-gravied slices of white meat are sufficient to introduce amid the various cosmopolitan dishes of the meal.

Back in revolutionary days no such thought troubled the mistress of the governor's mansion at Albany, the exclusive hostess of Boston, or the chatelaine of a Virginia estate. There was dinner. only one proper place for the huge goldenbrown, savery and beautiful turkey-and that was the exact middle of whatever end of the table was designated "head." No courses annoved the guests and irritated eager juveniles. The dinner services had to be extensive and Dinner was served at midday and began with a soup, taken from an immense toureen placed before the hostess. She ladled it out into soup plates, whose depth would astound a fastidious diner of today. All over the broad expanse of white cicth were various dishes and rlates and cruets and receptacles for needed seasonings.

Nor were these of a thickness meant to endure rather than charm the eye. Gazing upon a collection of them now at the National Museum at Washington one marvels what magic of housewifery skill ever prevented their breakage. Where is the bride of yesterday who can point today to an intact after-dinner coffee set-much less that sufficient for a dinner party? Yet these are displayed in all the purity of outline and quaintness of a long gone period, bringing very near to the visitor the era of genuine hospi-

In those revolutionary Thanksgivings there was no time to hastily wash certain dishes and free air and broadminded- can vividly picture the powdered hair of the grinning darkies in the south, or cheery white "help" of the north.

At the museum imagination is stimulated by a sight of the very garments and jewels worn at Thanksgiving dinners just about the time the holiday received its christening as a national event. Dainty and suggestive of the beauty of youth is a pale blue ribbed silk empire gown with short puffed sleeves, a cobwebby white hand embroidered kerchief and a plain fall of wide skirt. Near it are the ridiculously little high-heeled white satin shoes, the gay colored fan, immense tortoise shell combs and gold beads and miniature locket worn by the revolutionary

Looking at her footgear one smiles in reminiscence of the fairy tales of grandmothers who always insist upon the sensibleness of the way THEIR grandmothers dressed. A flaming red cloak, with Red Riding Hood cape, and a beautiful beaded hand bag completed the toilette in which the girl probably rode many miles horseback with her arms clasped tight around the body of a male relative, or, perhaps rested warmly inside one of the lumbering road coaches which the museum contains. From a family long famed in history comes down a rarely beautiful gold engraved snuff box and lace wristlets and handkerchief, which the owner was wont to display on such occasions as that of a stately Thanksgiving. In every detail of china and silver the costumes there is evidenced this suggestion of dignity and caste. And yet, very gay and festive must have appeared a gathering of well-known folk of the late revolutionary period, when Thanksgiving was sufficiently new as a national holiday to be observed with particular enthusiasm.

A complete full dress costume of a man of affairs of Maryland, displayed behind glass at the museum, reveals the dandyism prevailing. The knee breeches are of corded tan silk, with gem encrusted buckles; the coat, of the same material, is on the frock variety-with many plaits at the back, self-covered buttons and a high turnover collar of the Robespierre style. The gloves, silken hose, three-cornered hat and caped great coat are all delicate of texture and in marked contrast to the somber garb now thought appropriate for wear at a Thanksgiving

But it was not all "beer and skittles" then! Amid the display of old mahogany table, candelabra, cushioned dining chairs and array of costly old china and glass used on Thanksgiving days at Mount Vernon is the camp outfit of George Washington from which he partook of so many

One distressing winter of the struggle he ate his Thanksgiving dinner "in the field" and it is recorded that he had nothing except the regulation soldierly provender.

His little camp chest still contains the numerous pewter forks and spoons and dishes that served him in lieu of silver and porcelain. Over a fire that could be built in the open one pictures bread being toasted for him on the iron toaster which is still intact. There were bottles brighten up a sun parlor in a very of seasonings, such as salt and pepper and a few pleasant way. shallow pewter plates.

These names antedate the use of surnames, as may be inferred from The house is 23 feet wide by 35 the fact that nearly all of them have given rise to patronymics, like Jacobson, Peterson and Stevenson. In the twelfth century missionaries sent out by the authorities used to bap tize whole villages at once, and to save time invested all the men with the name of John or some other saint, and the women usually Mary or Martha. To distinguish the Johns some additional name like Short or Strong of White or Black was given him by the neighbors, and so Christian names and surnames were united.

After the reformation it became the fashion among the Puritans to give children the names of characters like the Old Testament, and odd ones like Melchisidek or Barzillai were pre ferred. Among these were Abel, Levi, Jesse, Amos, Asa, Isaiah, Ephraim, Gideon, Malachi, Abner, Hosea, Ezekiel. Jeremiah, Zachariah, Asher, Eli, and hundreds of others.

For some reason the use of these names has largely ceased. We can understand why Ebenezer has been dropped, though once one of the most common of names in New England, Ebenezer. But most of the Puritan names. This is about 30 per cent. Ten classes in the twentieth century, numbering 3,037, show but 25 given names of this class, or less than one per cent. Ebenezer and Barzillai have completely disappeared. Nor is Peletiah or Zadok to be found. We can only hope that the descend inherited some of their sterling qualities, though they do not perpetuate Choose Your Reading Carefully.

Don't trust your reading to something that you can pick up. Have a book of good writing that deals with real topics of knowledge and wisdom. It should be a family law that only the instructive and uplifting things should be read in the home. Reading goes directly into a person's life, making him what it is-empty, frivolous, witless or vain. Of course, one must have some lightness and humor, but these should be the exception. There is nothing that so weakens the mind as this continual joking the everlasting laugh over trivial things. The true rule is to meditate upon what one has read, but what sort of meditation will one get out of a lot of jokes? Reading that doesn't inspire thought of a serious nature would better beif one would lounge about on the grass and the porch and watch the English sparrows than read only what tickles the empty mind.

Women Climb for a Hat.

At the annual reunion of the Welker family, held at the family homestead. near Sharpsburg, Pa., a tree-climbing contest was held among the female descendants of the family.

The prize that spurred the women on to grand efforts was a new fall hat, one of the latest creations in millinery and valued at $25. The winner turned up in Mrs. Meta Welker, who weighs more than 300 pounds Carefully working her way up foot by foot, the big woman, who outweighed the other contestants two to one. finally reached the hat and brought it down. She was winded and nearly done up, but she held on to the hat.

Bibulcus Judge,

Justice Darling suggests that the saying. "As sober as a judge," originated from the fact that 100 years or so back judges were the only sober people in the country. North of the Tweed, where the saying is also current, judges were certainly not conspicuous for sobriety. Andrew Lang prohibition leader, said of Tammany relates that "a great Scottish judge was once compelled to abstain from alcohol for six weeks. He then discovhis '12 hours' at noon. On the bench he and the other judges solemnly and dutifully absorbed their bottle (say a Nottle and a Scots pint) of port. Then he dined and sat over the claret till he titubated to bed. Then he rose, Well, my man, said the farmer, had no tub, and had his morning glass who was very short-minded, 'what can of whisky or brandy, and so on.'

The menu of a meal given lately by the London Vegetarian association included walnut cutlets with brown sauce, cauliflower and new potatoes, asparagus on toast, spaghetti on toast, tomato farcie and young carrots.

Not Knocking.

"Beg pardon," said the agent, as Mr. Grouch opened the door, "but I would like to ask if Mr. Dodger, your next door neighbor, is good pay." "How do I know whether he is good pay or not?" exclaimed Mr. Grouch. "All I know about him is that he has four grandchildren and he still owes for his marriage license."

many people want to build "something different." They feel that the ordinary square cut house, while all right and good enough for Smith or Jones and entirely comfortable and satisfactory so long as one is renting, is hardly the desirable thing when one comes to build a home for oneself. This feeling is entirely proper. While we would not for one moment want to seem to advocate the extreme and outlandish styles which often pass for originality. still a variety is necessary; and originality, or rather individuality, if properly directed, develops some good ideas in house design.

A well designed house costs no more to build than the plain, ordinary looking affairs that are often put up; in fact, they are apt to cost a good bit less, since the well designed house is built from complete architect's drawings and specifications. Then there are the other kind which are put up along and is never quite sure just how $600 and electric lighting and fixthe house is to look when finished.

Wedding Gown of Ivory Satin. The bride's gown was of satin, of a soft ivory tint, trimmed with beautiful lace, both old and rare. It was made in New York and the women connoisseurs declared that it was a masterpiece. The lingerie in the trousseau is of the most dainty material and is all hand made. The maid of honor and bridesmaids were beautifully gowned and all looked their best.

The girl made no reply. Her mind was in a whirl. But about 5:30 that afternoon, as Owen Marsh was whispering insinuatingly into the chape ron's delicate pink ear, a slip of a girl entered the rooms. She walked directly to her chaperon, but without looking at her. Her eyes were on the man with the godlike head.

The chaperon forgot herself. "I To the man of small capital poultry | thought you were driving in the park,"

Maxwell-Briscoe Motor Car

Made at Tarrytown, N. Y. and New Castle, Ind., 1905 to 1913

Also to all Owners of Stoddard-Dayton, 1905 to 1914; Columbia Gasoline and Electrics, 1906 to 1914; Everitt Cars of Any Model; Brush, Sampson and Courier Cars

THEREARETHREE GOOD REASONS why you should have your car overhauled now and worn parts replaced.

"Is this the bureau of information?"
"No," said the weary young man as FIRST: The garage man can give you better service he wet his thumb and riffled the pages -and you can spare the car better now than later. No matter whether you are going to keep the car, or sell or trade it in on a new one-it will pay you well to have it thoroughly overhauled, worn parts replaced by new ones and body repainted.

SECOND: We are able to furnish replacement parts for all models of above makes of cars within 48 hours from receipt of order. Have concentrated this branch of the business at Newcastle, Ind. (center of population of the U.S.) Here we have a $1,750,000 investment in plant and stock. 45,000 separate bins of parts.

THIRD: And perhaps the best reason why you should secure your requirements now-we must increase prices 20% January 1st, when the new parts price lists will be off the presses.

NOW NOTE THIS-Never before in the history of this industry has a new concern, having bought the plants and assets of a bankrupt one, taken upon itself the obligation of fur replacement parts for the cars it never made.

THE MAXWELL MOTOR COMPANY DID. We considered it good business, even if not a moral or legal obligation.

WE FOUND 122,000 owners out in the cold, as it were -pleading for parts. Their cars laid up and useless in most cases.

WE'VE INVESTED about one and three-quarters millions ($1,750,000) dollars in a plant and stock of parts, for over 150 different models, made by the concerns that comprised the United States Motor Company, whose assets we purchased from the Receiver thru the U. S. Courts.

WE TOOK THE NAME MAXWELL solely for the protection of 60,000 persons who had bought cars under that name.

HAD WE CHOSEN AN-OTHER NAME those 60,-000 cars would have had almost no value in the second-hand market. As it is, they have a definite value. And by the replacement of the worn parts your car will be good for a long time to come.

ANY RECOGNIZED DEALER or repair man-whether he handles the present Maxwell line or not -can procure these parts for you. Or you can order direct. Shipment will be made within 24 to 48 hours after receipt of the order at

WE would suggest to the readers of this paper that, in making up their list of Christmas presents they include the REPUBLICAN. Its weekly visits would be appreciated. It publishes the local events of Garrett county. It is a paper for the home circle. It interests the old folks as well as the young folks and children. It is the only seven column paper published in the county. The paper speaks for itself. Your sons and daughters away from home would be pleased to receive THE REPUBLICAN. It would keep them posted about affairs in the old home neighborhood. It would take the place of the letter you failed to write. Every week it would be in their family circle. MT. LAKE PARK, MD.

ring the beauty and simplicity of the original narrative The story of the origin of the observance of Christmas is quite another thing, however, and may be approached in a more mundane spirit. We take part in the time honored customs which are so intimately associated with the day without stopping to consider whether they had their inception in the Christmas idea or whether they ever had any other significance than they now have. We trim the Christmas tree, distribute our present, decorate with holly and mistletoe and sit down to a big dinner and if we ever stop to think why we do these things tom and that's all there is to it. But it is very far from being all. The customs which seem such an integral part of the festival are inextricably tangled up with Roman, Scandinavian, German and Celtic ceremonials, in which very many of them had their origin. Our Christmas, when we investigate it, is found to be a melting pot of pagan traditions and practices without number, purged of their old significance and adapted to the higher faith.

(and it is more than likely that we don't) why, it is just the Christmas cus-

The observer halts before the contemplation of the countless variety of customs associated with Christmas in all lands, both in the past and the present day. To describe them all would fill a good sized book, so we can only refer briefly here to some of the most prominent of them.

The early fathers of the church, however much they might have desired to banish all pagan practices from the exercises of religion, were perforce obliged to allow their converts to retain part of the old usages. It was an impossibility to put an end to them, so they wisely decided that it was better to let the people follow their bent along certain lines rather than to antagonize them by insisting too strongly on a course which they were bound to oppose. The more glaringly heathenish rites were eradicated, and those which remained were purged of their more objectionable features and infused with a new spirit.

Christmas was not observed at all, so far as we can find any record, for 200 or 300 years after the birth of Christ, and as the event had occurred in such an humble fashion men were quite unable to determine its date when they began to interest themselves in keeping the anniversary. There is not a month in the year for which some authority has not claimed the honor of the nativity. One thing is certain, and that is that it could not have occerred on the 25th of December, as this date is the height of the rainy season in Judea, as in California, and it is quite unlikely that the shepherds could have been watching their flocks by night under those conditions.

The first attempt on record to assign any date for the nativity was made in Egypt about 200 A. D., when May 20 was the date mentioned. From that time forward claims were made for various dates, January 6 and December 25 being the most in favor up to the time of Chrysostom in the fourth century, when the latter gained the preference.

This date was not chosen entirely without reason. The celebration of the winter solstice was one of the chief festivals of Rome, and among the Celts and Germans it was regarded with even greater significance. The sun, as the giver of light and heat, and consequently of life, has been an object of worship and adoration from the remotest times down to the present day; therefore the period of the winter solstice as marking the renewal of the power of the sun was a time of rejoicing among all peoples who either worshiped the sun directly or who regarded it as a manifestation of one of their deitles. The 12 days between December 25 and January 6 were regarded as extremely important by the Teutonic races, who believed that at that time the influence of the gods was more powerfully directed toward the earth than at any other. Nothing could be more natural, therefore, than that these peoples, on turning to Christianity, should fix the commemoration of the appearance of the Saviour on the earth at the same time of year they had been accustomed to acknowledge the glory of the sun. The significance of the two events is parallel; the one heralds new life to the physical world and the other the deliverance of the human race from the powers of evil.

It has been pointed out that in the early period of the church it was considered wise to allow the converts to retain some of the old customs. The observance of Christmas was therefore encouraged as a substitute for the pagan festivals, in particular for the Roman saturnalia, which occurred in December and which was so popular that while it originally lasted for one day only (the 17th), it was first extended to three days and later, under the Emperor Claudius, to seven. The festival was opened by public sacrifice before the temple of Saturn, followed by a great public banquet, in which all classes participated. From this time all the people seemed to go mad; the completest liberty prevailed and it was a time of universal festivity and merry making. Crowds swarmed through the streets shouting "To Saturnalia," a form of greeting similar to the modern "Merry Christmas." It was a holiday time in the widest sense; schools and law courts were closed and the senate adjourned; no criminal was executed and no war was proclaimed. The slaves enjoyed an equality with their masters, and even served them at the table. The people occupied themselves in calling on one another, in exchanging presents and attending banquets. There was always one day especially devoted to the children, a custom to which we may trace the particular significance of Christmas to children down to the present time.

Certain other practices of the Saturnalla which Christmas has preserved related to candles, images and cakes. Candles were always in evidence at this time, as were small images made either of baked clay or dough. The Germans today always make a practice of baking great quantities of all kinds of Christmas cakes, which are an important and indispensable adjunct to the

The custom of decorating with evergreens at Christmas has the tradition of ages back of it. As far back as history goes people have been in the habit of using flowers and greens in all sorts of festivals. The use of the mistletoe, however, is a survival from the ancient Ceits and Scandinavians, to whom it was an object of particular veneration at all times and especially when it grew on an oak. When found growing on this tree the Druids cut it with solemn ceremonies and used it in their sacrificial rites. It was believed to possess magic qualities of potent power. It is still potent, but only in the matter of conferring privileges.

The first historic mention of a Christmas tree was made in Strasburg in 1605, but the Danes go farther back than that. They have a sweet old legend relating to the time when Ansgar first preached Christianity to the Danes, wherein is told how the Lord sent his three messengers, Faith, Hope and Charity, to help light the first Christmas tree. They sought for one that should be as high as hope and wide as love, and that bore the sign of the cross on every bough and they finally found it in the balsam fir.

Beliefs which have been cherished for ages generally die hard, and the church, realizing this, introduced other practices into the old customs which survived from paganism. Such were the miracle plays and dramatic representations of early events in Christ's life, which received great attention during the middle ages and of which the Christmas carols may be considered an offshoot. These enjoyed great popularity throughout all Europe, but particularly in England, where in many villages today it is customary for troops of men and boys, called the waits, to go from door to door singing carols for several nights before Christ-

Similarly in some of the country districts in France the children make the rounds of the village, carrying a little cradle on their and singing backs carols for pennies.

Santa Claus is not as familiar a figure in France as he is among There, instead of hanging up their stockings to be filled by him. they place their shoes in front of the fireplace on Christmas eve, so that the Christchild may leave their presents in them.

In north Germa however, it is not the Christchild who gives the presents, but his servant. Knecht Ru-precht. This individual is usually represented by a man who clothes himself in a white robe and high buskins, a mask and an enormous wig. So attired he presents himself at the door and announces that he is sent by the Christchild to distribute gifts among the children. The parents receive him ceremoniously, and he inquires whether each child has been good, and If the answer is in the affirmative the child receives his presents; but if not, Knecht Ruprecht gives the parents a stick with the advice to use it

ICH WAS BROKE

In Belgium the children go about carrying paper stars with a lighted candle in the center from Christmas to Epiphany, to commemorate the appearance of the star of Bethlehem. There is a similar practice among some and ear, yea, in the mind and soul of pearance of the star of Bethlehem. There is a similar practice among some of the natives of Alaska belonging to the Greek church. A procession of men, women and children is formed, at the head of which is carried a large figure of a star covered with brightly colored paper. Two men also march at the head, carrying lanterns on long poles. The procession makes the rounds of the village, stopping at each house, where the marchers are invited to come in and take refreshments. They always accept and after singing a carol or two they march on to the next house. This performance is kept up through Christmas week, but after the second night it is varied by the introduction of a new feature. The star bearers are pursued by men and boys, who try to catch them and destroy their stars, and while the significance of the game is supposed to be in the fact that their amazement, when their day and will be highly satisfactory if and five whole cloves. Season with the significance of the game is supposed to lie in the fact that it is a representation of the soldiers of Herod killing the children of Bethlehem, the players are mainly concerned in the opportunities for a frolic which it affords and bother themselves little about the event it is supposed to com-

The old custom of burning the yule log still endures in certain parts of Europe. It is an outgrowth of the feast of Jul among the ancient Scandinavians, when every winter at the solstice they kindled enormous fires in honor of the god Thor. Among the Slavonians of southeastern Europe the bringing in and burning of the yule log is an elaborate ceremony. Some time during the week before Christmas, or on the day before, an oak or beech tree is selected, but on account of the superstition that such trees are endowed with souls it is necessary to observe certain precautions while cutting it down. The hewers must wear gloves throughout the whole proceeding and before they dare lay an ax to the tree they must face the east and cross themselves three times, and in felling it thy must take care that it falls toward the east. Evil consequences will follow if they do not chop off a chicken's head on the fresh stump, using the same ax with which they cut down the tree. The first chip is the prize of the housewife, who preserves it to put under the cream dish, so that the cream will be rich and

After sprinkling the newly hewn log with barley to insure good crops for the coming year it is ready to load on the ox wagon and the homeward journey is so timed that the house is not reached until after twilight falls. The housewife is on the lookout for it and as soon as she sees it coming she hastens to hide the table, the spoons, the fire shovel and the dining chairs, which are not brought to light again until the log has been kindled. It is generally about midnight when the log is brought into the house.

and it is received at the doorway by the father, who wishes his family a "Good morning and merry Christmas" three times. They, on greeting him in turn, shake over him some barley and, this ceremonial having been observed, he drags the log up to the hearth by means of a chain wound around it. In case the log is brought into the house before evening three sticks are cut from it and leaned against the eastern wall, where they remain, crowned with ivy, until the log is burned out.

The log must be paid marked respect by everybody up to the very last if good luck is to be enjoyed during the year, and no one had better approach it barefooted unless he wants to condemn himself to a whole year's suffering with sore feet

Christmas eve is distinguished by feasting and if a visitor appears he is sprinkled with grain from a sieve by the master of the house, in return for which greeting he places three candles wound around with gold and silver thread in the bottom of the sieve. These are lit at the beginning of the meal and when everybody has had his fill the master of the house extinguishes them with a bit of bread dipped in wine.

Much more could be told concerning the way Christmas is observed in different localities and many curious beliefs and practices would thus be brought to light. Some can be traced directly to a purely Christian source; the origin of others is unexplainable, and very many prove to be relics of the ages preceding the introduction of Christianity. The features briefly touched upon above are only the skimmings of innumerable usages relating to this one day. There is no other day in the year about which such a great variety of traditions and observances cluster, for there is no other day which people so delight to commemorate and none which is regarded with such deep and universal veneration.

The accompanying illustrations ity. ed to the needs of suburban or country building. The requirements for leaves little to be desired. The floora dwelling house for such a location are different in a good many respects from those in a city. More attention should be paid to the matter of making the house as nearly fireproof as possible; for in the country, as well as in our smaller towns and suburbs, there is little or no fire protection. Accordingly, if a building once takes fire, nothing, as a usual thing, can be done except to watch it burn. Of course, the fire risk from adjoining buildings is much greater in thickly settled communities; but the fire fighting apparatus which is quickly available more than makes up for this extra hazard.

The only wise and logical thing for a man to do when he plans to invest a large amount of money in a suburban or country home, is to build it fireproof. With the modern building materials now available, it is very easy to do this; and the cost, although

Longest-Term Prisoner Is Among

After spending more than 23 years behind the bars of the Maryland Penitentiary, John Shelley Hudson, colored, the longest-term prisoner at the institution in point of time served, was pardoned by Governor Goldsborough. Hudson was sentenced to a life term for murder in the first degree by tne Circuit Court for Worcester county in May, 1890. He killed another negro man. The sentence originally mposed was hanging, but this was subsequently commuted to life imprisonment by the late Gov. Elihu E.

The Governor also pardoned William E. Penning, serving a term of three years in the penitentiary for forgery. James Burke has announced his A number of citizens of Harford councandidacy for the postmastership of ty had urged the Governor to pardon Penning, among them being State Treasurer Murray Vandiver and John B. Hanna, chairman of the Republican State Central Committee.

> Three other pardons were issued by he Governor. They are:

Walter Lewandowski, convicted at the September term, 1908, of the Criminal Court of Baltimore on three charges of burglary and sentenced to 15 years in the penitentiary.

Moses Feinberg, convicted before the same court last January in two cases of receiving stolen goods; senenced to four years in the city jail. Secretary Wants Authority To Study Domestic Conditions-Federal Aid For Roads Urged.

HOUSTON'S FIRST REPORT,

Washington.-Reorganization of the Department of Agriculture is fore shadowed in Secretary Houston's first annual report presented to President Wilson. A plan, to be submitted to Congress in the fiscal estimates of 1916, proposes to carry out the work of the department in five or six main groups, such as research, State relations, rural organization, forest serv ice, weather and regulation. Such a plan, Secretary Houston believes, will,

Bryan, Tex.-A death roll of more than 50 persons, with scores of flood refugees in imminent peril, and possibly a thousand others marooned and suffering from prolonged hunger and cold, was indicated by the latest reports from the flooded Brazos River ottoms, in this section of South-Central Texas. For over 50 miles the Brazos was three to five miles wide and running with millrace speed. The known dead in Texas floods numbered 33 before reports from the inundated territory in this district began coming in. The late reports were brought by men on horseback, and indicated at least 20 more persons had been drowned. About two-thirds of the dead were negroes. The courier's reports indicated that the property loss would total $4,000,-000 or $5,000,000 when losses along the Brazos are added to the already heavy damage in other portions of the Henry Martin, vice-president and 101 nominal f o b afloat; No. 1 Northgeneral manager of the International ern Duluth, 971/2 f o b affoat.
